The body of a well-dressed woman, evidently an Italian, about forty years old, was found floating in the Passaic River at Belleville yesterday afternoon. The body was clothed in a black broad-cloth dress, a fancy shawl, and underclothing of cloth dress, a fancy snawl, and underciolting or good material, black hat, red slik stockings and Oxford shoes. There was nothing on the body to lead to identification. A peculiar thing about the woman's death is that she had a white handkerchief tied over her head and dropping below the eyes. It is supposed that she tied the handkerchief so as to blindfold herself when she walked into the river. The woman was evidently a stranger, as many per-sons viewed the body yesterday, but no one identi-fied it.
